

A Social Story

Going to the Chapel Allerton Arts Festival

When we arrive a steward says hello to us.

The stewards wear yellow jackets.

When we enter a steward stamps our hands.

We can say 'no thank you' if we don't want our hands stamped.

We can decide what we want to do at the festival.

Information boards tell us what is happening.

There are stalls on the street.

We can buy food and drink if we want to.

We can listen to music if we want to.

We can ask a steward for help if we have a problem or a question about the festival.

There is lots to enjoy at the festival.
